

By touching upon higher states of mind
One will see things that are usually hidden
The clarity of vision which clouds the mind's eye
Reflected in a wide variety of manifestations
For the imagination is free from earthly shackles
Which limit its capacity to explore beyond the Invisible boundaries imposed by the physical world
The vibrant colors that ensnare the roving eye
Of a quality unknown to the mortal realm
To experience the wonders of the world within
Is to stir the mind from the deepest of slumber
To experience sensations of a profound nature
Which influence thought with visions of worlds
Beyond the fleeting grasp of common experience

